

Kids or adults "smoking" marijuana in e-cigs.

DON'T BE FOOLED

It is called BHO, dabs, wax or honey oil and it is pure THC, the psychoactive ingredient in the drug marijuana.

BHO (Butane Hash Oil) is made from the dangerous process of turning marijuana plants into oil. It's dangerous because the key ingredient is butane; the same butane used in a common lighter. Directions on how to make and use it are all over the internet.

The high can last for hours off just a "dab" of hash oil; from a mere pinhead sized amount of what appears in consistency and color to be some kind of caramel.

*Smoking marijuana in plain sight:
NBC News Report on Deceptive Vapor Pens*

▶ Watch/read report

Marijuana Harmless?
Think Again

MarijuanaHarmlessThinkAgain.org

A BHO vaporizer can be mistaken for an e-cigarette or pen. Kids can hide it in their sock drawer, backpack or pocket.